Natalie Magnus

Natalie Magnus works in Student Affairs at Skagit Valley College in Mt. Vernon, Washington. She has worked in higher education since 2011, focusing the majority of her time on student service and social action experiences. At the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse and the University of Idaho she administered alternative break programs that sent students to provide volunteer assistance throughout the country and globe. Her research has focus on a critical lens to international service with the goal of creating curriculum to combat the white savior complex. She received a B.A. in Psychology in 2010 from the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse and an M.S.Ed. in Student Affairs Administration in Higher Education in 2013 from the University of Wisconsin-La Crosse.
